

Great Falls Park

At the northern end of the George Washington Memorial Parkway, just 15 miles from Washington, D.C., is a meeting place of Native American cultures. People have inhabited this area since 10,500 B.C.E. For thousands of years, people of many tribes, especially members of the Iroquois Nation and the Powhatan Confederacy, came together to trade goods, ideas, and cultures.

You can learn how this place affected the lives of the first people to live here at the Visitor Center and by exploring the park.
